Purchase of Sydney ENT and Facial Day Surgery Centre

Presmed Australia (PMA) recently announced the purchase of Sydney ENT and Facial Day Surgery Centre (SENT) in Chatswood. This business is located in the same building as Ophthalmic Surgery

Centre. SENT is recognised as one of the top dedicated ENT facilities in Sydney with 15 surgeons currently operating there. The purchase of SENT will bring the number of day hospitals in the PMA group to four.

PMA Managing Director, Marc Resnik said “This is an exciting opportunity for PMA, in that it adds another specialised day hospital to the group and allows us to provide a wider range of health care services and no doubt, we will be able to share ideas and additional knowledge to the benefit of all facilities”. New Alcon Centurion PHACO technologies introduced at Presmed

‘Centurion Vision System’ a new advanced technology that enhances the efficiency and outcome of cataract surgery has been introduced at Ophthalmic Surgery Centre and Epping Surgery Centre. This intelligent PHACO technology is designed to provide surgeons with superior cataract removal capabilities. The new system automatically and continuously adapts to changing conditions within the eye, provides greater stability during each step of the surgery, and places optimized energy technology at the surgeon’s fingertips through enhanced fluidic management and surgical precision.

The addition of Centurion PHACO technology ensures that OSC and ESC remain at the forefront of the latest advances in Ophthalmology. Read more

Researching Australian practices in ophthalmology for the new Chatswood Eye Hospital and Presmed group

Our Management Team recently visited Queensland Eye Institute South Bank Day Hospital, Brisbane, to review their day hospital as a comparison to our centres. Management were able to compare this new ophthalmic specific facility, their operational flows and clinical policies and procedures in order to assist the planning of the new Presmed Chatswood eye hospital.

“It is important that we benchmark ourselves against the best in Australia and internationally if we are to achieve our goal of being the leading ophthalmic facility and group in Australia” said Mr Roger Cronin, Chief Operating Officer of Presmed Australia. “These site visits to our industry colleagues will help us to achieve that goal”.

Chatswood Private Hospital Update

A recent visit to the construction site has revealed a lot of exciting progress. The slab for level one has been completed, with level two due for completion this month. Ground level will comprise reception and administration office spaces and level one will be the 6 operating theatres, recovery areas and overnight beds whilst level 2 will be consulting suites.

The initial decisions on materials and finishes have been decided and the concept design is now complete. Potential builders have been invited to tender for the internal works.
